

Goal-item branches stop at task completion; other-item branches continue to measure helping.
Rows differ in cohort and post-task observation window; item effects require paired event-order comparisons.