
Both curves use the same fixed training-energy denominator. Held own-energy normalization is recorded separately in training_summary.json.